

IWO furn Networking Center on-site service – for the trade

You wish to achieve a return on your investment as quickly as possible through a high degree of EDI networking, but do not have sufficient staffing capacities?

The IWO furn Networking Center offers you an on-site service to incorporate a large number of suppliers through EDI in a very short space of time. The IWO furn networker comes to your company and coordinates all processes necessary for an EDI link between your purchasing department, IT and the supplier. The IWO furn networker has constant access to IWO furn Clearing and is therefore in a position to monitor the test operations between you and your supplier:

- You request an employee from the IWO furn Networking Center (networker).
- Together with your company we define a period of time during which you would like to link a certain number of companies by EDI to your merchandise management system. You provide us with the contact partner(s) in your company who will actively be available to us during the planned period for any test orders or other test communications up to going live.

Alternatively: training of the IWO furn networker to work in your merchandise management system to create test orders and monitor order confirmations, delivery notes and invoices.

- The IWO furn networker assumes the coordination with your purchasing department as to
 - which suppliers are to be networked
 - for whom test orders are to be sent
 - whether master data/catalogues exist
- The IWO furn networker assumes the communication with the test supplier
 - request for EDI test operation
 - master data request
 - sending of test order (alternatively your purchasing department or IWO furn networker)
 - punctual return of order confirmations
 - correctness of prices, discounts and tax information on the invoices
 - coordination of transition to paper-free live operations between trade and supplier
